

TRANSLATING PAIN INTERNATIONAL FORUM ON LANGUAGE, TEXT AND SUFFERING

The Translating Pain International Forum on Language, Text and Suffering is co-sponsored by the Migration, Identity and Translation Network, the Australian Centre for Jewish Civilisation and the Research Program in Global History.

Welcome

This exciting sequence of events consists of a series of keynote lectures and seminars, a small academic colloquium, and a larger academic conference, all focused on exploring how pain, although a universal element of human existence, is also one that all too often eludes definition and description. And yet physical as well as psychological pain requires if not demands translation into language broadly defined, whether in academic research; individual and communal accounts of suffering; medical reports; legal trials; performance and visual arts; and a host of other contexts. The limits and possibilities of those translation processes are at the heart of this forum. We welcome you to Monash for an intensive discussion of these issues.

Translating Pain Steering Committee

Adam Clulow, Loredana Polezzi, Noah Shenker, and Rita Wilson

Translating Pain: An International Forum on Language, Text and Suffering

Co-sponsored by the Migration, Identity and Translation Network, the Australian Centre for Jewish Civilisation and the Research Program in Global History

Dates and Locations: August 10-12, 2015

(Please note other locations for associated events on August 14 and 17)

Monash University, Caulfield Campus
Australian Centre for Jewish Civilisation
Level 8, Building H, Room 8.05/8.06
900 Dandenong Road, Caulfield East, VIC 3145
Contact: Noah Shenker; noah.shenker@monash.edu

Monday, August 10, 2015: Opening Keynote and Reception

(Australian Centre for Jewish Civilisation Level 8, Building H, Caulfield Campus)

5:00PM-6:00PM

Opening Keynote

Translating pain: From expression to ethics in genocide testimony
Seán Hand (The University of Warwick)

6:00PM-7:30PM

Migration, Translation, and Identity Network Launch Reception

Tuesday, August 11, 2015: Academic Colloquium

(Registration and reading of pre-circulated papers is required in advance)
(Australian Centre for Jewish Civilisation Level 8, Building H, Caulfield Campus)

8:30AM-9:00AM

Coffee and Registration

9:00AM-9:30AM

Opening Remarks and Introductions

Noah Shenker (Monash University)

9:30AM-10:15AM

Session I

A plague ship set adrift": Sierra Leone in the global imaginary from civil war to Ebola
Rosanne Kennedy (Australian National University)

10:15AM-10:30AM

Break

10:30AM-11:15AM

Session II

The bounded translation of Rwanda's pain
David Simon (Yale University)

11:15AM-11:30AM

Break

11:30AM-12:15PM

Session III

Translating pain: Pain and loss in Japanese memoirs of the Pacific War
Beatrice Trefalt (Monash University)

- 12:15PM-1:15PM Lunch
- 1:15PM-2:00PM Session IV
The pain of madness: How introspection results in insanity
Ernst van Alphen (Leiden University)
- 2:00PM-2:15PM Break
- 2:15PM-3:00PM Session V
Pain and paternalism in Soviet and Czechoslovakian maternity care, 1945-91
Paula Michaels (Monash University)
- 3:00PM-3:15PM Break
- 3:15PM-4:00PM Session VI
Translating pain: From expression to ethics in testimonial depictions of genocide
Seán Hand (University of Warwick)
- 4:00PM-4:15PM Break
- 4:15PM-5:00PM Session VII
 Closing Response
Noah Shenker (Monash University)
- 5:00PM-6:00PM Session VII (For colloquium presenters and MITN steering committee members only)
 Wrap-up over wine and cheese in ACJC lobby
- 7:00PM-10:00PM Conference Dinner (Registration required)
 Ilona Staller (Restaurant)
 282 Carlisle St, Balaclava VIC 3183

Wednesday, August 12, 2015: Conference

(Open to the Public)

(Australian Centre for Jewish Civilisation Level 8, Building H)

8:30AM-9:00AM Coffee and Registration

9:00AM-10:45AM Session I: *Narrating Pain

Chair: Loredana Polezzi (The University of Warwick)

When South Sudanese women speak do we listen?: Valuing orality in genocide research
Sarah Maher (Monash University)

The challenges of mutual transformation: Representing Vietnamese memory in Anglophone and Francophone literature
Jessica Trevitt (Monash University)

Translating pain in Chinese and beyond: Analogies with colour, taste, and sound
Dingkun Wang, (The Australian National University)

Women writing pain: Recent Australian fiction and the representation of gendered violence
Sue Kossew (Monash University)

10:45AM-11:00AM Break

11:00AM-12:45PM Session II: *Interpreting Pain: Medical and legal scenarios

Chair: Paula Michaels (Monash University)

Describing pain via the medical interpreter

Helen Tebble (Monash University)

Measuring injury, valuing lives: Tort reform and access to justice

Genevieve Grant (Monash University)

Pain is always already a translation

Seamus Barker (University of Sydney)

Crip pride versus pain shame: Disability, crisis and suffering in context of contradicting identification strategies

Florian Kiuppis (Lillehammer University College) and Joel Michael Reynolds (Emory University)

12:45PM-1:30PM Lunch

1:30PM-3:00PM Session III: *Remembering Pain

Chair: Seán Hand (The University of Warwick)

Transcultural memories of the Jewish Diaspora from Libya: Mediating and remediating Jewish narratives of sorrow

Barbara Spadaro (University of Bristol)

'Nature's plan of relief': Remembering and forgetting the pain of American slavery

Clare Corbould (Monash University)

Pain in the memoirs of the survivors of the KLNa

Diana Henry (Independent Scholar)

3:00PM-3:15PM Break

3:15PM-4:45PM Session IV: *Representing the Pain of the "Other"

Chair: David Simon (Yale University)

Soldiers, photography and liberal imperial wars in colonial Indonesia

Susie Protschky (Monash University)

Translating pain as redemptive suffering in Tagalog missionary linguistics

Marlon James (Monash University)

The suffering child: Lizzie Van Zyl and the concentration camp controversy in the South African War, 1899-1902

Christina Twomey (Monash University)

5:00PM-5:45PM Closing Reception (H1.16 Ground Floor Monash Caulfield)

6:00PM-7:00PM Closing Keynote (H1.16 Ground Floor Monash Caulfield)

Holocaust Legacies: The Transmission of Trauma and Postmemory

Ernst van Alphen (Leiden University)

Friday, August 14, 2015: Monash History Seminar Presentation
(Open to Monash staff and postgraduate students only)
(Isaac Brown meeting room, Bld 55, Rm G04 - Monash Clayton)

12:00PM-1:00PM Denial and anti-denial in Rwanda
David Simon (Yale University)

Monday, August 17, 2015 Film Screening and Discussion
(Open to the public though RSVP required)
(Room G1.04 MADA Monash Caulfield)

7:30PM-9:00PM The Maelstrom: A Family Chronicle (Peter Forgacs, Hungary, 1997)
Film Screening and Discussion with Noah Shenker (Monash University) and
Ernst van Alphen (Leiden University)