In many parts of Asia, we have been observing the rise of anti-migration movements, jingoism and racist attacks. Considering the cases in Indonesia, South Korea and Japan, this brainstorming workshop will discuss this emerging trans-Asian phenomenon and explore the possibility of organizing a collaborative/comparative research project.

Moderators/Speakers:

Prof. Greg Barton - (Herb Feith Research Professor for the Study of Indonesia)

Associate Prof. Gil-Soo Han - (School of Media, Film and Journalism)

Prof. Koichi Iwabuchi - (Monash Asia Institute)

Wed 10 September, 2.00pm – 4:30 pm
ACJC Seminar Room
H8.05 Bld H Level 8
Monash University
Caulfield Campus

Light refreshment will be provided.